

Tyler's 5-Week Plan: Reviews to Automation

Oct 5, 2026 · @Tyler Busby

How your week works

Here's the deal, Tyler. By the end of week 5 you should have 2 review clients (at least one paying), a working automation demo, and your first automation pitches out to trades. That's the path from £129 clients to £1,500 ones. I've built it around your job on Mondays and Fridays and your daughter on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and every other weekend, starting this weekend.

Thursday is your big business day. It's the only full weekday you've got when businesses are open, so protect it like a shift at work. Everything else fits into small gaps. Your daughter days stay your daughter days: just 30 minutes after she's asleep, and only if you've got the energy.

Day	What it's for	Time
Monday (work)	7 to 8am: calls to tradesmen before they start, if your shift allows. Evening: client work and follow-up texts.	1 to 2 hours
Tuesday (daughter)	After bedtime: one Make Academy lesson, or nothing if you're shattered	0 to 30 min
Wednesday (daughter)	After bedtime: one Make Academy lesson	0 to 30 min
Thursday (free)	Main day. Walk-ins 2 to 4pm, calls, audits, onboarding clients	5 to 6 hours
Friday (work)	7 to 8am calls. Evening: emails and follow-ups.	1 to 2 hours
Free weekend	Saturday: building (demos, audits, website). Sunday: plan the week, 1 to 2 hours.	4 to 6 hours
Daughter weekend	Off. 15 minutes on Sunday night to look at next week.	15 min

That's roughly 12 to 15 hours a week on free-weekend weeks and 8 to 10 on daughter weekends. It's enough. The review replies plan I wrote you earlier was for full-time days, so here it's stretched over 4 weeks instead of 2.

Weekends at a glance: 10 and 11 Oct with your daughter, 17 and 18 Oct free, 24 and 25 Oct with your daughter, 31 Oct and 1 Nov free, 7 and 8 Nov with your daughter. If I've got the pattern wrong, swap the Saturday jobs to the other weekends.

I've assumed "Monday and Friday" means you work those two days. If you actually work Monday to Friday, tell me and I'll redo it for evenings and weekends.

Week 1 (5 to 11 Oct): get set up

A (where you start): nothing set up, just the plans.

B (where you finish): business email and tracker sheet ready, 30 Leicester prospects checked, 5 audits made and printed, first 5 calls done.

Daughter weekend, so the week ends Thursday-heavy.

Monday 5 Oct (tonight, 1 hour)

- ☐ Create the business Gmail (something like leicesterreviewcare@gmail.com)
- ☐ Make the Google Sheet with Prospects and Clients tabs (columns are in the review plan PDF)
- ☐ Sign up for a free Make.com account
- ☐ Save the master reply prompt and audit prompt in a phone note

Tuesday 6 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Optional, after bedtime: Make Academy, first lesson (about 20 minutes)

Wednesday 7 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Optional, after bedtime: Make Academy, next lesson

Thursday 8 Oct (main day, 5 to 6 hours)

- ☐ 10am to 12pm: open every business on the Leicester starter list in Google Maps. Log rating, review count and unanswered reviews. Add 13 more to reach 30.
- ☐ 12 to 1pm: build the audit template in Canva
- ☐ 1 to 3pm: make audits for your top 5 (use AI to write the reply to their worst unanswered review)
- ☐ 3 to 4pm: print the 5 audits and order business cards

Friday 9 Oct (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: ring 5 garages or roofers from the list using the phone script. Text the audit to anyone who says yes.
- ☐ Evening: log the results in the sheet

Weekend 10 and 11 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Sunday night, 15 minutes: read week 2, pick which 10 shops you'll walk into on Thursday

The one thing that matters this week: those first 5 calls. They'll feel awkward. Do them anyway, because the second batch is twice as easy.

Week 2 (12 to 18 Oct): get in front of people

A: 30 prospects, 5 audits, 5 calls made.

B: 25 more businesses contacted, at least 3 real conversations, first pilot client says yes. One-page website live.

Free weekend, so Saturday is a building day.

Monday 12 Oct (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: ring 5 more trades
- ☐ Evening: follow-up texts to everyone from last Friday ("Just checking you got the Google check I sent over")

Tuesday 13 and Wednesday 14 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Optional: one Make Academy lesson each night

Thursday 15 Oct (main day)

- ☐ 10am to 1pm: make 5 more audits for Narborough Road and Queens Road shops
- ☐ 2 to 4pm: walk-ins. 10 shops on Narborough Road, using the walk-in script. Leave the printed audit with anyone whose owner isn't in.
- ☐ 4 to 5pm: log everything, book any "come back and chat" meetings for next Thursday

Friday 16 Oct (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: 5 calls
- ☐ Evening: send 10 audit emails to dentists and clinics

Saturday 17 Oct (free, 4 hours)

- ☐ Build your Carrd one-page site: what you do, prices, your phone number, a space for testimonials
- ☐ Make 5 more audits so you've got stock for next week
- ☐ Practise the walk-in script out loud 10 times

Sunday 18 Oct (free, 1 to 2 hours)

- ☐ Follow-up texts to every shop from Thursday
- ☐ Plan week 3: who to ring, where to walk

How it should go: expect 1 interested owner per 8 to 10 businesses you contact. If you've had 25 contacts and no interest, change the niche, not the script.

Week 3 (19 to 25 Oct): deliver for your first client

A: first pilot said yes, 50+ businesses contacted.

B: pilot 1 fully set up and wowed, pilot 2 signed, Make.com basics finished. You can build "form filled in, text sent" on your own.

Daughter weekend, so get the work done by Friday.

Monday 19 Oct (work)

- ☐ Evening, 1 hour: onboarding call with pilot 1 (20 minutes on the phone, questions are in the review plan). Get Manager access to their Google profile.

Tuesday 20 and Wednesday 21 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Optional: Make Academy. Aim to finish the basics course this week.

Thursday 22 Oct (main day)

- ☐ 10am to 1pm: pilot 1's full setup. Reply to every old review (AI drafts, you check each one), fix the profile checklist, first Google post.
- ☐ 1pm: send the owner a screenshot: "All done, 31 reviews answered." Ask: "Know anyone else who'd want this?"
- ☐ 2 to 4pm: walk-ins on the Golden Mile or Queens Road, 10 businesses. Show pilot 1's before and after on your phone.

Friday 23 Oct (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: 5 calls
- ☐ Evening: follow-ups, and onboard pilot 2 if they've said yes

Weekend 24 and 25 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Sunday night, 15 minutes: plan Saturday's demo build

Why this week matters: pilot 1 is your proof. A screenshot of 31 freshly answered reviews does more selling than any script.

Week 4 (26 Oct to 1 Nov): first paid client and build the demo

A: 2 pilots running, Make.com basics done.

B: first paying review client at £129 or £199 a month, and a finished automation demo with a 3-minute video, ready to show trades.

Free weekend, and Saturday is the most important build day of the whole plan. Heads up: this is around October half term, so if your daughter's days shift, move Thursday's jobs rather than dropping them.

Monday 26 Oct (work)

- ☐ Evening: weekly replies and post for both pilots (about 30 minutes each with AI)

Tuesday 27 and Wednesday 28 Oct (daughter)

- ☐ Optional: watch 2 GoHighLevel or Make.com YouTube tutorials on "lead follow-up automation"

Thursday 29 Oct (main day)

- ☐ 10am to 12pm: go back to your 5 warmest leads from weeks 2 and 3. Pitch at full price this time, showing pilot 1's results.
- ☐ 2 to 4pm: 10 new walk-ins
- ☐ 4pm: set up a Stripe payment link or GoCardless for monthly payments

Friday 30 Oct (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: 5 calls
- ☐ Evening: register as a sole trader with HMRC (15 minutes online), once your first payment is close

Saturday 31 Oct (free, 4 to 5 hours)

- ☐ Build the demo in Make.com: a website form for a pretend "Leicester Kitchens Ltd" that sends an instant text, a booking link, and 3 follow-ups over a week. Use the copy-paste prompt from the business models PDF to get the steps from AI.
- ☐ Test it 10 times on your own phone
- ☐ Record a 3-minute screen video: you fill in the form, your phone buzzes, you talk through what happens next

Sunday 1 Nov (free, 2 hours)

- ☐ List 30 trades with £5k+ jobs (kitchens, extensions, roofers, solar). Star any that are already review clients or leads.
- ☐ Write your automation opener: "How many quotes did you send last month that just went quiet?"

Week 5 (2 to 8 Nov): pitch the high ticket offer

A: 1 or 2 review clients (one paying), a working automation demo and video, 30 trades listed.

B: automation pitched to 15 trades, 2 proper sit-down chats booked, first automation client agreed at a pilot price (around £300 setup) in return for a testimonial and their numbers.

Daughter weekend, so it's all weekdays.

Monday 2 Nov (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: ring 5 trades from the new list. Opener, then "Can I text you a 3-minute video?"
- ☐ Evening: review client work (about 1 hour)

Tuesday 3 and Wednesday 4 Nov (daughter)

- ☐ Optional: tidy up the demo based on anything that broke

Thursday 5 Nov (main day)

- ☐ 10 to 11am: pitch automation to your review clients first. "I've sorted your reviews; want me to make sure you never lose another quote?"
- ☐ 11am to 1pm: ring 10 trades
- ☐ 2 to 4pm: visit 2 or 3 trades that showed interest (builders' yards and showrooms are open)
- ☐ Offer the first one the pilot price: "£300 to set it up instead of £1,500, because I want your results as my case study"

Friday 6 Nov (work)

- ☐ 7 to 8am: 5 calls
- ☐ Evening: send the demo video to everyone who said "maybe"

Weekend 7 and 8 Nov (daughter)

- ☐ Sunday night: count up the 5 weeks (contacts, chats, clients, money) and plan weeks 6 to 8

Be honest with yourself here. The first £1,500 deal most likely lands in weeks 8 to 10, once the pilot has real numbers like "won 2 extra kitchens this month." Week 5 is about getting that pilot started, not about the big cheque yet.

When a week goes sideways

It will. Your daughter gets ill, work swaps your shift, a Thursday gets wiped out. Don't try to catch up by cramming two weeks into one. Just slide the whole plan back a week and carry on. Missing a week costs you a week; quitting costs you everything.

If you only manage one thing in a week, make it the outreach (calls and walk-ins). Learning, websites and tidy spreadsheets can wait. Talking to business owners can't.

One rule for daughter days: they're off. The 30 minutes after bedtime is a bonus, never a target. You'll last longer at this if it doesn't eat into your time with her.

After week 5, the shape stays the same: Thursdays for selling, Monday and Friday evenings for client work, free Saturdays for building. Weeks 6 to 8 are about getting the automation pilot results, and weeks 8 to 10 are where you pitch the full £1,500. Come back to me at the end of week 5 with your numbers and I'll write weeks 6 to 10.
